ANNOUNCEMENT

To all pilots:

10 July 2010

AME Announcement

I am retiring from my FAA Aviation Medical Examiner (AME) designation and from the FAA; therefore I will not be doing any more AME examinations. However, I am not retiring from the practice of medicine.

It has been a great ride for 2 Air Force years, exactly 50 civilian AME years, and 25,000 AME exams. From now on I'll be available primarily for internal medicine. If any pilots need confidential aeromedical consultations, I am available as always.

Best regards,

Richard R. Grayson, M.D.
